THE DAUGHTERS OF WALTER DENNY

by Jean Strickland

The document shown on the preceeding page is signed by Malinda Turner. She is a widow with six children.

Malinda Turner was born Malinda Denny in Jackson County, MS in 1805. She was the daughter of "old" Walter Denny and his wife, Nancy. The Dennys emigrated to Mississippi from Pennsylvania in 1800. Walter Denny had 2 sons and 8 daughters. One son Robert died young. Walter, Jr. married Nancy McKennon and had many descendants in the Moss Point area. Walter Denny was Land Commissioner for Greene and Jackson Counties in the early 1800s.

Malinda Denny Turner's sisters were Mary born 1808 married John Robert Gibson in Greene County, MS. This information is from the death certificate of a son David Gibson. Tincy b. ca 1823 who married Henry Havard and moved to Angelina County, Texas. This information is from the family historian, Bronson Havard of Dallas, Texas. Lucinda b. ? who married John Faggard of Greene County, MS. This information is from the death record of a daughter. There are four more girls whose names are not known at this time. If anyone has information on any of these four unknown daughters, please let the society know.

Noel Turner was a Revolutionary Soldier who settled in the Greene-Jackson County area and then moved to Mobile County, Alabama. He had a large family and his 8th child John Turner was the husband of Malinda Denny. Please note that this disagrees with Four Centuries on the Pascagoula by Cyril Cain. The marriage shown there for John is for a later generation.

It is evident from the census that the John Turner who married Malinda Denny is the son of Noel Turner. In 1830 census John Turner and Malinda are living next to his parents Noel Turner and her parents, Walter Denny.

In 1820 Noel Turner has a son age 16-26 years old and in 1830 he has 2 sons age 20-40 but none age 26-45 at home. I believe that the missing son is John who is now married and listed with his own family.

In 1820 Walter Denny has 2 daughters age 10-16 years old and in 1830 both of these daughters would be 20-30 and they are gone. One of these is Malinda and she is now listed with her husband John Turner and their children

By 1840 the Turners, one and all, appear to have moved to Mobile County, AL. They are all living near each other as they continue to do until Malinda and her daughter move away in the 1861-1879 time period. Notice that there are two John Turners listed in the census. One is 30-40 and is the son who married Malinda Denny. The younger one is, I believe, the one listed as marrying the Rawls in Four Centuries.

In the Mobile County Death Records there is a death in 1847 of a Mr. Turner a boathand. This is possibly John Turner, Malinda's husband because she is a widow in 1850.

By 1840 Malinda and John Turner have 5 children at home, 1 son and 4 daughters. By 1850 John is deceased. There is also a son born between 1820-1830. He is

Pascagoula Public Library
Local History & Genealogy Department
Denny Family History

not on the 1840 census so apparently died young. There are two daughters born between 1820 and 1830 who are probably married by 1840.

Melinda has not moved. Her neighbors are the same in 1850. Jacob Baptiste and his wife Sarah Turner, Jacob Baptiste, Jr., Henry Flurry and his mother Chloe Turner, William Simmons, Charles Turner, David Turner, Noel Turner III, and his wife Mary Haas, Jacob Harrill and his daughter Mary Turner widow of Noel Turner, Jr.

In 1850 Malinda Denny Turner's children are: James 15, Frances 9, and Elizabeth age 7. If we begin with the 1830 census and compare the 1830, 40 and 50 Census it appears that John and Melinda Denny Turner had the following children

A son born 1820-30 not on 1840 census probably died young.

Susan Turner born 1828

Sarah born 1823

Malinda born 1821 married first a Crenshaw and then an Arnett

Frances born 1840

James born 1835

Elizabeth born 1843

By 1860 Malinda Turner is still living in the same place in Mobile County, AL. She is shown as head of household. Her son in law obviously has a store. William Sullivan has a real estate of $2,500. and a personal property valued at $3,000. Quite well to do for that time period. James and Elizabeth have married and left home. Living with them is David Williams, a clerk in William Sullivan's store. Melinda has one grandson, William, 9 months old.

The 1870 census tells us that William Sullivan, Francis Turner's husband has died, probably between 1862 and 1865 and probably in the Civil War. Frances Turner Sullivan has married the Clerk in her husband's store, David Williams and they have 3 children. They have moved to Greene County, MS. Probably the move was made in 1869, since the year old child shows to have been born in Alabama. Malinda Turner is living with her daughter and son in law. Apparently Frances Turner Sullivan Williams dies after 1870 as her husband remarries shortly after that.

After 1870 Malinda Denny Turner goes to live with her daughter Malinda who is living in Bayou La Batre, AL. Malinda is now married to an Arnett. In 1881 Malinda Denny Turner is a charter member of the First Baptist Church of Bayou La Batre, Alabama. She is buried in an unmarked grave in the Oddfellows Cemetery in Bayou La Batre, AL.

It is interesting to note that one of Malinda Denny's grandchildren was named Walter Denny Crenshaw. It is also very likely that Malinda Denny Turner was the daughter of Walter Denny and his wife Nancy. Since Walter Denny was the only person by that surname in this area of Mississippi at the time of her birth and marriage.

Walter Denny

The Dennys have been with us since 1811, and some of the best known of them have been named Walter. The first one we have any record of before us was Walter Denny, who took up a Spanish grant on Section 40, Township 2 and Range 7 in 1811. This land lay between Buzzard Roost and State Highway 26. His nearest neighbors were Thomas Bilbo and Burwell Rouse. He was put on a committee with Archibald McManus, and William Eubanks in 1819 to build a jail for the new courthouse at Brewer's Bluff, the second Jackson County seat of justice. On May 24 and 25, 1813, Denny voted in the first popular election in Jackson County. It was called to send a Territorial Representative to Congress. Judge Harry Toulmin was unanimously elected.

In 1815 and again in 1824 Denny was elected Justice of the Peace. He had a son who also was called Walter, born in 1818. He represented Jackson County in the Legislature in 1859-60 and until January 1862. That seems to have been the time he entered the Army of the Confederacy. Meanwhile he had spent some time in Greene County in mid-century as he does not appear in the Jackson County Census of 1850. While there he was sheriff for a term.

It seems that he was a little old for the army since he was more than forty but did serve in supply depots.

This Walter had a son, Walter McKinnon, who was born around 1856. He was sent up East and given a good education in law and he and his father were founders of the Denny Lumber Company in Moss Point. Walter M. was the one for whom Old Denny was named since he probably had a stock in that mill. It was a feeder for his big mill at Moss Point. Evidently he expected to build a railroad to Denny from the outset. Meanwhile the old K. C. beat him to the area and the mill was moved to Lucedale. The railroad was built to Evanston in 1905.

He and Gregory Luce were good friends and both worked, while Denny was one term in Congress, in 1890, for the dredging of the East Pass of the Pascagoula River. This opened the way for the heavy industry we are enjoying there today.

Beverly,

Found my Denny bibliography....my library has exactly none of these books, so I can't tell you what's in them, but here goes:

1. GEN. OF THE DENNY FAMILY IN ENG. AND AMERICA, DESC. OF JOHN DENNY OF COMBS, SUFFOLK, ENG. IN 1439. by C.C. Denny, 1886, 265 p.--in Lib. of Congress (other places?)
2. DENNY GENEALOGY. by Margaret Collins Denny & Elizabeth Chapman Denny Vann, 1944, Nat. Hist. Soc. (follows many Denny lines)--Lib. of Congress
3. GEN. OF NC BRANCH OF DENNY FAMILY. by Guy C. Denny, 1946, 245 p.--Lib. of Congress
4. WILLIAM DENNY DESCENDANTS. by Francis Thomas Graves, 1984, 250 p.--Lib. of Congress
5. RICHARD DENNY OF PHILADELPHIA AND RICHMOND, VA. by Wm. Murdock Denny, 1973, 208 p.--Lib. of Congress
6. EARLY DENNY DESC. AND ARMORIAL BEARINGS, A PROBLEM PEDIGREE. by Henry L.L. Denny, 1944, 6 p.--Lib. of Congress
7. GENEALOGICAL NOTES: DENNY FAMILY AND ALLIED FAMILIES. by Mabel Denny Thompson, (no year given), Seattle Wa, in 7 volumes--Lib. of Congress

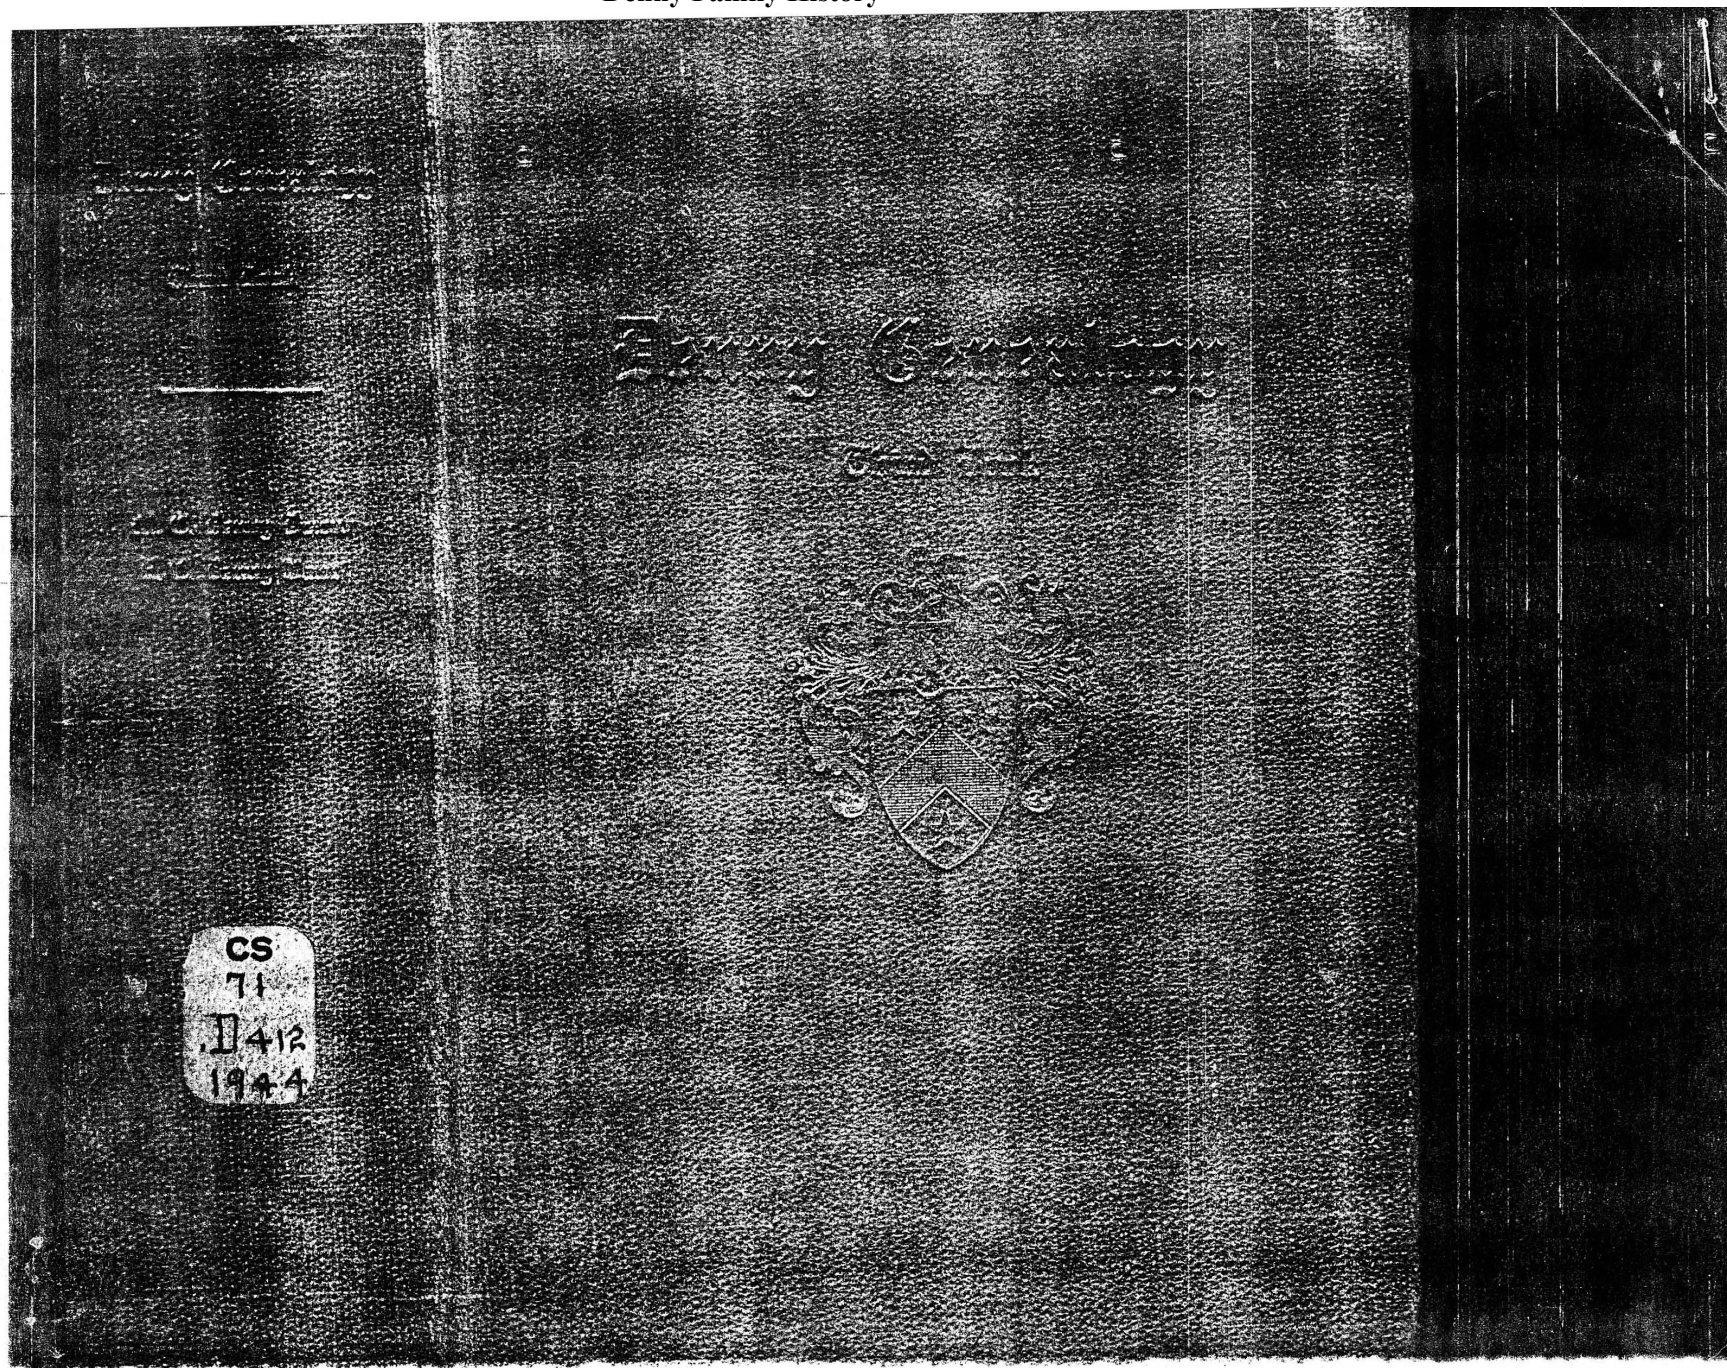

So, here it is. In case you haven't heard, the Lib. of Congress had completed a microfilm project in which they are now making available through inter-library loan the genealogies in their collection that were pub. before 1900. In this group that should include only the first one on the list. Try for any of the others here on *P, through inter-lib. loan, by advertising in various mags, etc. Good luck, and if you should ever see references to a Patrick Denny who married the lovely Elizabeth Whomever and left a 1790's will in Washington Co, VA, then please message or drop me a note.

HENRY MORTLOCK RAWLINS
MARY ISABELLE DENNY

Married - Scarcely had the church bells ceased to in our city when the joyful ringing of wedding bells, the sound which falls ever so merrily and yet so solemnly on listening ear, again made sweet music in our midst.

The occasion of this happy ringing was the marriage Miss Mary Isabelle Denny to Mr. Henry Mortlock Rawlins, which was solemnized in the Presbyterian Church of this place on Tuesday, Dec. 29 at 3 p. m., the pastor Rev. E. H. Gre officiating.

The bride belongs to one of the most prominent families of Moss Point and always has been very popular in society, being an accomplished musician and exceedingly bright and piquant in conversation. The groom came to us some 3 or 4 years ago from "Old England" and in that short time has made for himself an enviable name both in business and social circles. Moss Point, Miss., Dec. 29, 1903

TO THE HON. PRESIDENT AND COMMISSIONERS OF REVENUE

MOBILE COUNTY, ALABAMA

The undersigned respectfully represents to your honorable board that she is poor and unable to provide the means of sustenance and support for herself and six children, that heretofore she had made application to Mr. RALPH KETCHUM, the overseer of the poor in the Beat in which she resides and received aid from him up to the first of February last; that since then she has made an application to him for further aid, which he refuses; stating that he has resigned his appointment as overseer aforesaid; and upon inquiry she learns that no other person has as yet been appointed in his place. She therefore prays that your Honors will by an order, or in some manner deemed expedient by yorself make her a further allowance and appropriation to enable her get along. The amount allowed me by Mr.Kitchum was seven dollars the month - she prays your honors to afford her the relief and aid prayed for and will ever pray....

DENNY & HEIDELBERG

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW
PASCAGOULA, MISS.

November 11, 1925.

Mr. L. R. Denny,
C/O D. R. McInnis Export Co.,
806 New Orleans Bank Building,
New Orleans, Louisiana.

My Dear Son:

Having carefully examined the abstract of title to the lands of Mrs. H. J. DeForrest, (formerly the wife and widow of J. C. Peterson, deceased), described as Lots 1 to 8, inclusive, in the resurvey of the Sarrazin Tract on West Market Street, in regular section 11, township 8 south, range 6 west, in the city of Pascagoula, county of Jackson, state of Mississippi, I am of the opinion that the title of Mrs. DeForrest to said lands is a merchantable and valid title, and, consequently, recommend and suggest that you accept it as such.

Such discrepancies as appear in the chain of title are not serious, and are cured by the affidavits submitted with the abstract of title.

To avoid possible confusion, or the necessity of taking other affidavits to show that Mrs. DeForrest is now the wife of W. R. DeForrest, and that at the time <sup>she</sup> became such she was the widow of J. C. Peterson, deceased; and also to prevent any possible question of homestead rights; I suggest that in the conveyance of the land to you, the statement be embodied therein that Mrs. DeForrest was at date of her marriage to W. R. DeForrest, the widow of said J. C. Peterson, deceased, and also that W. R. DeForrest sign the deed to you, with his wife.

I herewith enclose the abstract of title, together with said affidavits and other papers submitted to me in the matter.

With best wishes for you in all things, I am,

Affectionately,

W. M. Denny,
Attorney at Law,

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,
COUNTY OF JACKSON,
CITY OF PASCAGOULA.

Personally appeared before me, the undersigned authority in and for said State, County and City aforesaid, V. P. DeJean, who being by me duly sworn on his oath makes the following statement to-wit:

I am forty-four years of age, and am now Commissioner and Tax Collector of the City of Pascagoula. I have lived in Pascagoula, Jackson County, Mississippi since a small boy. I knew Ed. Mitchell very well in his life time, and also knew John McKibben, who was Ed. Mitchell's brother-in-law. Ed Mitchell signed his name E. Mitchell and Ed. Mitchell. He was for a number of years in the stevedore business here, and associated with my father in the general mercantile business. Mr. Mitchell's name was often written Ed. Mitchell, Edward Mitchell or Edmond Mitchell.

I knew that Mr. Mitchell bought and owned lots in the Parrazin Tract on Market Street in this City, and in deeds of conveyances of those lots where the name appears E. Mitchell, Ed. Mitchell, Edward Mitchell or Edmond Mitchell, the identical man is intended in each instance.

Mitchell's brother-in-law was John McKibben, and he and John V. Kibbin as shown in deed conveying property to Edmond Mitchell are one and the same man. The name John V. Kibbin as shown recorded in type was evidently in error in recording.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this the 7th day of November, A. D. 1925.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
COUNTY OF JACKSON
CITY OF PASCAGOULA

Personally appeared before me, the undersigned authority, in and for said state, county and city, Miss Adèle Krebs, who being by me duly sworn on her oath makes the following statement to me.

"I am 62 years of age and have lived in Jackson County Mississippi, in what is now the city of Pascagoula, since birth. I knew Mrs. J. Zuline Sarrazin very well during her lifetime. She was a daughter of Rene Krebs and the wife of Jaques E. Sarrazin.

Mrs. Sarrazin signed her name sometimes, J. Zuline Sarrazin, J. Z. Sarrazin or Zuline I. Sarrazin; and where either of these three names appear on deed records the identical person is intended

Subject: RE: murder on Leaf River

Dear Renee,

To bring you up to date on a couple of things.....

I have located the reference to the murder of John Turner and the facts do not seem to be what I was told they were.

The reference is NOT in a book by Jean Strickland, but in "Marriages and Deaths from Mississippi Newspapers, Vol. 3: 1813-1850, p. 135 by Betty Wiltshire. Although this references a John Turner, the newspaper is the Vicksburg Daily Whig and it appears to be the [city] sexton's report for the ending week of July 27, 1844.

I have two problems with this. Vicksburg is a long way from Leaf or Mobile Co., so I am thinking it would be unlikely that our John Turner would be over there. The second problem is that it is reporting a death in July, 1844 and the petition that I found in the Mobile courthouse and sent you was dated 16 May 1844 and stated that John Turner died "last year." For these reasons I do not think this is our man. I have not ruled out John Turner being stabbed---just that this newspaper report is not about our John Turner. I will continue to try to think of a way to solve the mystery.

On the subject of the Dennys, I was with a cousin (Lucile that is copied) last weekend. She showed me the Denny books that she got on interlibrary loan. They were written in the 1940s I think. The books appear to be wrong in that they say Walter Denny, Sr's wife was Lucinda Faggart. It would seem that Jean Strickland is right in "The Daughters of Walter Denny" when she says that Lucinda is actually a daughter and married John Faggard. The marriages you found support this.

Lucile has a paper copied from the 1850 mortality schedule showing Lucinda Faggard's death [Lucile, please correct me if I am wrong]. That also supports her not being his wife in that if she were married to Walter Denny, Sr., they would have used Denny as her last name.

That's where we stand for now.

Subject: Frederick Bryant GREGORY

Dear Ms. Martin, Sheila Bowman sent me your name. She had written you for information about Frederick Bryant GREGORY, who was allegedly buried in Lucedale, Mississippi, in 1944. You sent her a return message, part of which is quoted below:

"We have located a Fred B. Gregory in Magnolia Cemetery in Lucedale, MS. His headstone reads 1865-1945. The email that you sent us earlier stated that you were interested in Frederick Bryant Gregory who allegedly died and was buried in Lucedale, MS in the 1840s. We wondered whether you may have made a mistake and meant to say that he died in the 1940s. Lucedale was created in 1899 and George County in 1910.

"We also found a death record from the book "Records of George County, >Mississippi; Death Records 1912-1945," by Mary Childress Rouse as follows:

"Fredrick B. Gregory, Age 79. Male, White. Father - C. Gregory, Died July 12, 1945, Lucedale, MS ....."

Could you please send me photocopies of both the cemetery listing and the death record from the book? This is my cousin's grandfather, and we need all the family information we can find.

Your letter also suggested that we contact George County for an obituary, and the Mississippi State Department of Health for a death certificate. I will do this immediately. Thank you so much for your help. Please let me know the cost of the above photocopies.

Denny, Walter McKennon (Judge)

Nov. 17, 1939

DEATH OF JUDGE W. M. DENNY

Judge Walter McKennon Denny died at his home, 603 East Perfection street, Jackson, Mississippi, on Tuesday afternoon, November 14, 1939, after an extended illness.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, from the chapel of the Wright & Purpusse funeral home. Rev. W. A. Hall, pastor of the Power Memorial Presbyterian Church, officiating, with interment in Lakewood Memorial Park. The active pall bearers were: W. M. Gooch, John L. Sly, W. Hubert Loper, Harry Jacobs, Stanley Whinn and Durant Finley. The honorary pall bearers were: Walker Wood, M. W. Sharp, Will Watkins, Walter Lindinger, Dr. R. C. O'Ferrell, Burt Miller, Hoyt Holland and Floyd Finley.

Walter M. Denny was about 63 years of age, was born in Moss Point and has lived there and at Pascagoula, Gulfport, and in later years, at Jackson. He was chancery court judge of this district several years ago, about the time of the close of the World War. He resigned that position to resume practice of law at Gulfport, later moving to Jackson. He was well known in Jackson county, and in fact, all along the coast of Mississippi. He was educated in the common schools of Pascagoula, and Spring Hill College, receiving his law degree at Georgetown University. He was a Methodist and a Mason.

Deceased is survived by his widow, who was Irene Griffin, and five sons, as follows: Walter M. Denny, Jr., Frank Griffin Denny, Lyman R. Denny, William Allen Denny and Marion Denny. Also surviving are one brother and five sisters, as follows: Lyman R. Denny, Misses Katherine Denny, Hulda Denny, Grace M. Denny and Irene Denny, of Pascagoula, and Mrs. Nancy Miller of Gulfport; also three grandchildren and other relatives.

The bereaved widow, children, brothers and sisters have the heartfelt sympathy of hundreds of friends in Pascagoula and the entire Gulf Coast.

DIED.

At Moss Point, Miss., Sunday, December 6, 1891, ANNIE MCKAY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Denny, aged 15 years, 6 months and 29 days.

Her remains were conveyed from her father's residence to the Presbyterian Church, from which the funeral took place Sunday evening at 2 o'clock, proceeding to the Griffin Cemetery, where they were interred, Rev. D. O. Byers officiating.

The death of Miss Denny was the result of the sad accident to which we referred in our last issue, and the sympathy of all was enlisted towards her in her sufferings. Her funeral was one of the largest that has ever taken place in Moss Point.

In these days of hasty marriages and frequent divorces it is refreshing to turn to the picture above, which is that of six worthy couples of Moss Point who have spent more than fifty years each of wedded life together, and now, in the sunset period of their lives are resting from their labors, serene and content with a hale of happiness surrounding their hoary heads that only a well spent life can bring.

This is a remarkable photo, and it is doubtful if any other city of the size of Moss Point can boast of six couples, still living and in good health, having lived together for more than a half century.

Moss Point is proud of them; Jackson county is proud of them, and the whole state of Mississippi should be proud of them. It is a splendid testimonial to the opportunities that Moss Point offers for longevity and comfortable living to be able to say that of the six gentlemen shown in the picture only one is engaged in actual daily occupation, the five others have retired, and all of them have a competence with which to care for them in their fast declining years; they are all worthy citizens, of the kind that has made this country what it is, representatives of a race of men that has never had a superior in the history of the world and of a civilization that is the pride and glory of this great nation.

What a world of love and tenderness, of forbearance and mutual counsel, of labor and achievement have been the lot of these noble men and sweet old women!

Ye who scoff at marriage and make a joke of divorce ponder on this picture and remember,—

"That clear as amber, fine as musk,
Is life to those who, pilgrim-wise,
Move hand in hand from dawn to dusk,
Each morning nearer Paradise."

"Oh, not for them shall angels pray;
They stand in everlasting light;
They walk in Allah's smile by day,
And nestle in His heart by night."

McPHERSON-DENNY

Miss Virginia Armistead McPherson and Mr. Frank Griffin Denny, both of this city, were quietly married Thursday morning, November 21, at ten o'clock in the parlors of Helen White Hall, Belhaven College. The Reverend Doctor George T. Gillespie, president of the college officiated.

Mrs. Denny is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Armistead McPherson and Mr. Denny the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Denny.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Orrin S. McPherson, was gowned in a Carolyn model of green crepe Lakiam with pleated Bishop sleeves and interesting high neckline. Miss Mary McPherson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She chose a pottery rust crepe Lakiam, Carolyn model, with brown accessories. The best man was Mr. Randall Denny, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Kenneth Seawright, Jonesville, La., played the accompaniment for Miss Juliette Chamberlain who sang, "I Love You Truly." She played the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's Lohengrin for the processional and during the ceremony, softly played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Mrs. Denny is a graduate of Belhaven and for the past several years has been connected with the Field Cooperative Association. Mr. Denny is connected with the Jackson State National Bank. — Jackson Daily News.

The above write up appeared in the society section of Sunday's Jackson Daily News and will be of interest to many Pascagoulans as Mr. Denny, who is a former resident of our city and the nephew of the Misses Denny, has numerous friends here.

THE DENNY FAMILY IN GREAT BRITAIN

The surname Denny is one of the earliest used in England. It probably derives from a Norman family, Le Daneys, which in turn may have received its name from Bernard the Dane, who settled in Normandy. This family is recorded in England soon after the Norman Conquest. The Le Daneys family bore Arms for several centuries before disappearing from the records. Some of them are known to have used the name Denny.

Whether Sir Geoffrey Denny, of London, born in 1320, was actually a member of the Le Daneys family has not yet been discovered. He founded a family destined to become famous and wealthy in England. The story of their lives is told in detail in earlier books of this Series. Pictures of famous portraits, which arrived too late for First Book, were used in the very small edition of Second Book. Some of these pictures are reproduced in this book to give them wider circulation.

The great-great-great-grandson of Sir Geoffrey was Sir Anthony, 1500-1549, a favorite at the Court of King Henry VIII. The King gave him vast estates and made him guardian of King Edward VI. Sir Anthony married Lady Joan Champernowne, who was Lady in Waiting to Queen Catherine Parr and was Aunt of Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir Humphrey Gilbert. She was reputed to be one of the greatest beauties of her day. Another distinguished holder of the title was Sir Anthony's youngest son, Sir Edward, 1547-1600, who served Queen Elizabeth in the Irish Wars and married her Maid of Honor, Lady Margaret Edgumbe. The Queen created Sir Edward, Knight Banneret and gave him Tralee Castle in Ireland. Another Sir Edward, 1569-1637, son of Sir Anthony's oldest son Henry, inherited the title and was created Earl of Norwich, out of gratitude for Sir Anthony's services to the Crown. The title came later to still another Sir Edward, 1605-1646, who restored Tralee Castle and returned there to live. This ancient title is now held by The Rev. Sir Henry Lyttelton Lyster Denny, Seventh Baronet of Tralee Castle, a clergyman of the Church of England.

There is no evidence whatsoever that any member of this Denny

Family ever came to take up residence in America, save a Colonel William Denny, last royal governor of Pennsylvania, who returned to England at the time of the Revolutionary War and who left no descendants.

At some unrecorded time, some scion of the Denny family went from England to Scotland, where they are known to have lived as early as 1375. It was from Scotland that some Dennys went to North Ireland, late in the seventeenth century and not liking their lot in Scotland, became a part of the huge Ulster Scot migration to America early in the eighteenth century. ## FIRST GENERATION

D1 DAVID DENNY, Sr., is the progenitor of all people whose biographies are given in this book. It is necessary to re-construct his life from family tradition, amplified by public records of Pennsylvania and Virginia. Family tradition is sometimes at variance. Public records establish known facts.

All sources of tradition are unanimous that this branch of the Denny family originated in Scotland. Records sent the authors of this Series from Scotland, make this a credible tradition. One grandson added they were of Protestant faith. All sources agree they moved from Scotland to Ireland. Two sources, both in the fifth generation in this country, both quoting earlier generations, place their Irish home in Ulster, near Londonderry. Irish records, described in "Second Book" of this Series, show that Dennys were living in the late seventeenth century, at Omagh, a village near Londonderry. Family tradition says that David's father, who never came to America, was William Denny, of Scottish ancestry, a resident of Ulster, in the seventeenth century. Judge Robert Denny, of Indianapolis (D94, this bk.), wrote that David's brother, Robert, was said to be the stoutest man in Ireland, having lifted the "King's Weight." He also quotes a Mr. Wood, a man of great age, who told Mary Denny, in her youth, (see D4, v, this bk.), that Robert was not a fleshy man, but he had no ribs, his sides were solid walls. There is no evidence that this brother Robert ever came to America. But there is a Robert Denny, who was among the earliest settlers, in East Pennsboro Twp., Cumberland Co., Pa. He died in 1784. His son may be the William, who died in that county in 1790. His will mentions six married daughters and many grandchildren. No descendants of this family have been found by the authors of this Series. This is the only Robert found in Pennsylvania records of the time.

Many historians have grown eloquent over the reasons why the Ulster Scots came to America in such great numbers in the early eighteenth century. The former books of this Series told much of this story. It is sufficient to say here that the Irish Parliament tried to stop this emigration, but the bill failed to pass

This only stimulated departures. Then "Landlords and Tythers" began to persecute masters and owners of ships and printers who produced advertisements for colonists. One man who threatened to whip any advertiser was told by a Judge it must be done according to law. Glowing reports sent from America were denied. But the long leases of land in Northern Ireland had begun to expire. One could have fertile land and religious liberty in America. Emigration became an epidemic. The year that David Denny came to America is reported all the way from 1700, or 1720, both of which are too early, to 1745, which is too late, to conform to known facts of his life. It must have been in the late 1730's. All sources agree that he came to the Province of Pennsylvania and settled there among the Ulster Scots, who had been established by the Proprietors beyond the Quaker settlements on the seaboard, "as a buffer against the Indians." Dr. Egle, famous Pennsylvania historian, is quoted<sup>1</sup> as saying that the granting of warrants to "Proprietary Land" was closed from 1718 to 1732, during the minorities of Richard and Thomas Penn. Emigrants continued to come and settle themselves, without title. Their rights were recognized by the public and passed, with their improvements through many hands. A sudden order that warrants should be paid for in four months time was very hard on these colonists. David Denny may have had this experience, since there is no record of a Land Warrant in his name. Years later, Isabella (Denny) Hubbard (No. D19, this bk.), his granddaughter, when a very old woman, said that David left Ireland on account of the "great derth," and that he paid the passage of poorer neighbors. They came from that sturdy stock of whom George Washington said, that if the Revolution were lost and he had but one banner left he would rally his Scotch-Irish troopers and plant a new Republic on top of the Blue Ridge mountains.

Judge Robert Denny, his great-grandson, wrote that David Denny married Margaret Denny, whose kinship was unknown to him. A study, extending over thirty years in the records of the various pioneer Denny families of colonial Pennsylvania, has convinced the authors that this Margaret Denny was the daughter of Walter and Margery Denny, who lived and died in Lancaster Co., Pa. (No. 3, "D.G." 1st Bk.). By error the printed birth date of his daughter Margaret, No. 9, belongs to Margaret No. 19, in that book. Public records prove that David lived in Lancaster Co., as early as 1744. There is no other Margaret who fits the known facts, and according to her father's will, she married David Denny. It is difficult to determine the date of her birth, since the order of birth of Walter's children is not known. It could have occurred as early as 1724. Likewise the date of David's birth is unknown. It is estimated that his birth took place between 1705 and 1715. His relationship, if any, to Walter Denny of Lancaster, and William Denny, of Chester, (No. W1, "D.G., 2nd Bk.") also is not known. The intimacy of the three families, and the fact that these emigrations frequently took place in family groups, is strong indication that close relationship did exist. All these possibilities are examined in detail in "Second Book." A chart, prepared for that book, showing among other things, the family intermarriages, is included.

One other tradition remains to be considered. Judge Robert Denny wrote<sup>2</sup> that David settled in Berks Co., Pa. Not one public record connecting David Denny with Berks Co., has been discovered, though carefully sought. Known records place him in two other Pennsylvania counties and appear to account for all the time he spent in Pennsylvania. After his arrival in America, he must have gone to Lancaster Co., and may even have lived with Walter's family until his marriage to Margaret, which took place no later than 1740, and maybe somewhat earlier. They settled at or near Paxtang, or Paxton, in that part of Lancaster Co., which later became Dauphin Co., near Fort Hunter, which was located six miles above the present city of Harrisburg, on the Susquehanna, at the Junction of Fishing Creek. Their oldest son was probably born there in 1741. Their peaceful existence was rudely shattered when John Armstrong, a trader, and his two servants, were murdered by a Delaware Indian. Such an

"DENNY GENEALOGY, SECOND BOOK"

Biographies of the descendants of William Denny (W1) appear in "Second Book," First Part.

Biographies of the descendants of Frederick Denny (1) appear in "First Book."

The descendants of David Denny, Sr., are described in this, the "Third Book" and a number is assigned to each, as follows: David, Sr., is D1. His daughter Margery (Denny) Lockhart is D3. His son, William is D4, John is D5 and Robert is D6.

His son, David Denny, Jr., whose biography appears first in the second generation of this book is placed at the bottom of the Chart so as to show his marriage with his first cousin, Margaret Denny (19, "First Book"). David, Jr., is D2 in "Third Book." This group has been assigned numbers in "Third Book" that differ from their numbers on the Chart. Their oldest son, David, III, is D8. His son David, IV, is D31. (This man also has a "Second Book" number on the Chart, W43, because of still another Denny intermarriage.) Walter, the second son of David, Jr., is D9, John is D10, William is D11 and James is D12. Nathan, son of John (58 in Chart) is D33.

event was a threat to every settler's home. A posse was organized, the bodies were found and buried. The murderer was brought in and imprisoned at "Landcaster." On April 19, 1744, David Denny was one of nine men who signed a deposition, setting forth the facts of the search and capture.<sup>3</sup> Within the next few years three more children were born, probably while they were still living at the "North End" of Paxton, for he was still paying taxes there. Just when he moved to the Brandywine neighborhood of Uwchlan Twp., Chester Co., is not known. One descendant says they lived in Uwchlan Twp., within the bounds of which William Denny lived. David's youngest son said in his pension application that he was born in Chester Co. John Denny (No. D8, this bk.), his grandson, says in his manuscript autobiography, that they lived at "Brandewine." In 1761, William of Brandywine, had purchased land in Frederick Co., Va. If he intended going there he gave up the idea, because he sold this land ten years later. David's name does not appear on Chester Co. records. He must have lived on William's ample lands. But it was during the Chester days that, on May 27, 1757, he became a member of the crew of a "Battoe, hired in ye service of ye prov'ce of Pennsylvania."<sup>4</sup> With this service his name disappears from Pennsylvania records.

Virginia fever was in the air. The Blue Ridge had been an effective barrier to settlement west of the mountains for over one hundred years. Now a way to the Shenandoah Valley had been opened from the Cumberland Valley of Pennsylvania. Two traders, the Van Meters, had secured land and settlement rights in the Valley. In 1731, Baron Joist Heidt (Hite) bought this grant and agreed to move sixteen white families into the Valley. In 1732, these families cut their way through the forests to the Valley. One of the sixteen, Stephen Hansonbella, is of interest to some descendants of David Denny, Sr., since David's grandson later married a Hotsenpiller granddaughter (No. D11, this bk.), an illustration of the change in spelling of old world names in the new world. Hite's party came up the Valley to Opequon Creek, where he built a stone fort, the ruins of which may still be seen on the grounds of "Springdale", the mansion later built by John Hite, still a Valley landmark, on what was called the "Great Wagon Road," now the Valley Pike. Another of the sixteen, Peter Stephens, built his log house two miles further south, near Stephens Run. Its remains could be seen a hundred years ago. This was the beginning of Stephensburg, later called Newtown and now Stephens City, where William Denny and Margaret Hotsenpiller lived. There was a sharp contest between Lord Fairfax, at "Greenway Court Manor," near by, and Col. Wood, who laid out Winchester, as to which town should be the County-seat. Wood won, but Stephensburg was the business center of the Valley. After the Revolution, forges and blacksmith shops kept busy building the wagons, which could carry five thousand pounds freight up the Valley. They cost as much as $200.00 and the six-horse teams would cost $125.00 more. Ten, twenty or thirty traveled in long trains as far south as Knoxville, Tenn., and the chime of the bells on their harness rang along the Valley. There were only dirt roads. One toll gate guarded the bit of graded road over the Alleghenies. Thirteen wagon shops and thirteen blacksmith shops made Stephensburg a busy place in the early nineteenth century. One of these shops belonged to William Denny, grandson of David, who also ran wagons in the train. It was these wagons which made possible the emigration, after the Revolution, of so many Virginia soldiers to the "western lands," in Kentucky. Three years after William of Brandywine bought land in Frederick Co., David bought, on Mar. 19, 1764, one hundred and ninety-four acres there, from William Hoge, for which he paid one hundred pounds current money, and on May 22, 1764, he bought from Isaac Greenleafe, two hundred and thirty-five acres, "near Round Hill on the Draughts of Hoge Creek." The description of these lands abounds in white, red and black oaks, dead hickories and the property lines of adjoining owners. These trees have vanished, but Round Hill and Hogue's Run remain, well-known landmarks on the Northwest Turnpike, a short distance from Winchester. The end-paper map shows where the forefather of this vast clan set up his Virginia home.

His will was written Apr. 25, and probated June 3, 1777, by his son David, Jr., and witnessed by Alexander White, who later, as a member of Congress, offered the government, in the name of Virginia, ten square miles as a site for the national capital. David's will and the inventory of his estate record the possessions and reflect the common social customs of that era. He left his "well beloved" wife, Margaret, a life interest in his dwelling house and garden. Since household furniture commonly belonged to the husband, her own spinning wheel was a bequest. Other articles given her were the "bed on which we usually ly," and a chest. It was probably the best of the two feather beds, and the appraisers valued the "old" chest at eighteen shillings. He also left her one bake pan and one of the four stew pots and all the pewter and earthenware. The rest of the personal estate went to his son, Robert, who was to pay his mother ten pounds a year, as well as provide food, fuel, and care in sickness. She probably felt well provided for. This first of many Margarets had inherited from her mother (see No. 3, "D.G.," 1st Bk.), a black gown and petticoat and one third of her "head clothes" and linens. Not a table or chair is on the list, but, surprisingly, there is a bookcase and a "liberry" of books. He had food for his mind, even if he had to stand up to enjoy it. His "stelyards", which weighed from one sixteenth of an ounce up to a pound, brought from Ireland, were a valued inheritance of his great-grandson, Joel Shields Denny (No. D103, this bk.). There were few farming tools. A high value was put on his joiner and turner tools, smith "belles" (bellows) and "part of a set of tools." The windmill might have furnished power for the shop left to his youngest son. The "waggon of cloth", with horses and harness, was appraised at one hundred and two pounds. By custom, the homestead was left to the two youngest sons. Fifty-six pounds, nineteen shillings cash was on hand, and owing on the books were fourteen pounds, ten shillings, eleven pence. Two cows each were left to his sons, William, John and Samuel. David had received his patrimony earlier. After forty odd years in the new world, David Denny left behind him considerable property, a daughter, six sturdy sons

SECOND GENERATION

D2 DAVID<sup>2</sup> DENNY, Jr. (David, Sr.<sup>1</sup>) was born about 1744, in Pennsylvania. The wanderlust in the veins of the Ulster Scot Dennys had only been whetted by the long trip across the Atlantic. David, Jr., proved to be more of a nomad than his father. His moving back and forth from state to state, and his comparatively early death, have made the reconstruction of his life difficult. The other members of the family moved to Frederick Co., Va., in 1765, but there is no evidence that he went there before 1772. Since the family had an interest in transportation, possibly he operated wagons between Pennsylvania and Virginia during these years. About 1770, he married, probably in Cumberland Co., Pa., his first cousin, Margaret Denny (No. 19, "D.G.," 1st Bk.). He must have taken his wife to Virginia at this time, for in 1772, he received two grants from Lord Fairfax, for which he was to pay, as was customary, one shilling yearly as rent for every fifty acres. His father also gave him ninety-six acres. In 1779, "David Denny of Frederick Co., Va., Blacksmith," leased his property in Virginia and bought land in W. Pennsboro Twp. (now Carlisle), Cumberland Co., Pa., where he was taxed for farm animals through 1785. After returning to Pennsylvania, he entered the Revolutionary Army, serving with Cumberland Co. troops during 1780 and 1781. He was a member of the 2nd Co., 2nd Bat., 1st Class, under Captains James McFarlane<sup>5</sup> and William Moore. His father-in-law, John Denny (No. 8, "D.G.," 1st Bk.) was also a member of this company. Alexander Denny (No. D37, this bk.) wrote that his grandfather, David Denny, Jr., "operated a train of Wagons in the transportation department under Gen. Daniel Morgan." In 1785, he and his wife received a grant of land in Cumberland Co., Pa., which they sold the next year. In 1787, they were back in Virginia. His wife's brother, Walter Denny, (No. 20, "D.G.," 1st Bk.) and her widowed mother, Margery B. Denny, sold their property in Cumberland Co., about the same time, and moved to Wheeling, Ohio Co., Va., now W. Va. Between Feb. 1793, and 2 and Vol. 16, p. 182.

Jan. 1795, David bought more than five hundred acres in Ohio Co., "on the waters of Wheeling Creek," for which he paid half a pound an acre, and moved there with part of his family. When he began to sell this land in Feb. 1795, he got three-quarters of a pound for part, but in Dec. the price had dropped below half a pound. In 1798, he was getting two pounds and in 1801, his heirs sold the remainder for about $6.00 an acre. In the meantime some of the Chester Co., Pa., Dennys had also come to Ohio Co. David had paused in Wheeling for five years. Now he and Samuel Denny (No. W3, "D.G., 2nd Bk."), possibly a cousin, took to the road again, and with their families, were "among the early squatters on Pickaway Plains," Ohio, where in 1800, they had a blacksmith shop on Congo Creek, in section 32. A few months later, David moved to Walnut Plains, in Harrison Twp., Ross Co., Ohio, the first settler in that locality. During his residence in Ohio Co., and later in Ross Co., only four of his children were with him. Three sons remained in Frederick Co., Va., one of whom continued in the transportation business all his life.

At this time David Denny was over fifty years old. He had been a pioneer settler of what are now four states of the Union. "He had one short leg, but was a stout man." He was beginning his life in the new Territory as if he planned to grow with the country, when death cut him short. He had not expected to die, for his affairs were not in order, but he did have time to make a will, July 20, which was probated Nov. 17, 1801, in Chillicothe, Ohio, in which he tried to adjust affairs for his family. He had given his brother-in-law, Walter Denny, power of attorney, in Wheeling, to sell the remaining land there. He had not received a report on this sale and was depending on this money, as well as money owed him by one of his brothers, and some other funds in the hands of James Ferguson, the husband of his wife's sister, Margery, (p. 108, "D.G., 1st Bk.) to pay for a large tract of land he was buying in Ross Co. The will makes provision for the division of this land between his wife, who received her dower, one-third, and three of the children who had accompanied him to Ohio. He had provided for his other children earlier. Like his brothers, he was a craftsman. His inventory lists his "smith tools and bellows." There was also a "waggon" and a comparatively large number of mares and colts. The account of the life of his wife, Margaret Denny, is told under No. 19, "D.G.," 1st Bk. She returned to Frederick Co., Va., and died there Feb. 21, 1836, in the home of their son, William.

D3 MARGERY<sup>2</sup> DENNY (David, Sr.<sup>1</sup>) who has the name of her maternal grandmother (No. 3, "D.G.," 1st Bk.) was born July, 1746, in Chester Co., Pa. She came to Frederick Co., Va., with other members of the family, early in the 1760's. At about twenty, she married James, son of Robert Wilson. He is possibly the James Wilson, who was with Morgan's riflemen in the Revolution.<sup>6</sup> Judging from wills and inventories, the Wilsons were well fixed, both with land and slaves. After ten years marriage, James made his will in Jan., 1777, which was probated by his wife in April, for contrary to the idea of considering women unfit for business, Margery was made the sole executrix. The entire estate was left to her so long as she remained a widow. She was to have only "two hundred pounds in full satisfaction of all her claims," should she remarry. If there were a posthumous child, it should share equally with the other children. Further sorrow was in store for Margery, for within a year, both a little daughter and her father, from whom she inherited 30 pounds current money, died. This was not all her patrimony, for a descendant of a daughter (No. D450, this bk.) says that he has a few pieces of old silver marked "Denny" and "D."
